A: Indusoft Web Studio is usually sold as a software collection, which includes the following modules, as you've discovered: EmbeddedView CEView SCADA Composer SCADA Explorer SCADA Web Interaction SCADA Web Studio All these programs are linked together in a group called Indusoft Web Studio. The installation of this software collection is usually quite complex. You should check the documentation to learn how to set it up. However, there are some softkeys which come with the software collection. Here is a list: A message from Andrew Rasiej, Tech President's Publisher Thank you for visiting techPresident, where politics and technology meet. We're asking our readers to help support the site. Let us tell you why: Since 2007, we've expanded techPresident's staff and daily work to exhaustively look at how technology is changing politics, government and civic life. To provide the independent and deeply informed journalism we do, we need to find ways to support this growth that will allow us to keep the majority of our content free. The Mobile Privacy Patchwork The open data movement represents a new way of thinking about openness in our information economy. It is less about remediating a broken system of secrecy or lessening the information that is collected, and more about providing the government and all of us with a more valuable insight into how information is being used. To that end, the four major pieces of national infrastructure — mobile, the cloud, the internet, and power systems — all needed to be called out this week for their potential privacy risks as they're increasingly exposed to the 'cloud.' Google - Under the new privacy policy, the company will combine data across all its services into an ever-growing "treasure trove of information" about each user's unique patterns of Internet usage, according to The Wall Street Journal. (1/2) Verizon - It now provides real-time 'location data' on customers, a capability for law enforcement to track its customers' every move, one hundred miles away. They also sell positioning and traffic data from other carriers. (2/2) AT&T - It collects location data for advertising and maps applications and sells data for state and local government
